Fri, 08 Dec 2016 10:34:06 +0000Fri, 08 Dec 2016 10:34:06 +0000New World Generation - Roqa>To start I'm making a new world that serves several purposes. The first is that it's a good starter world for those who join SAO for the first time. I wanted to use a basic atmosphere with mountains and desert in an easily accessible format. I probably started with about 1000+ sq ft and probably need a at least 515 sq ft to make it a huge world. There is a cave connecting to the outside world in the southwest. I plan on using this in one of the missions which will take players inside the cave on a treasure hunt. It's also connected to several major rivers for the beginning. There is also a valley near the north east that runs down into the sea. Near this valley is a large desert which i have named the Redshore Desert. This is connected to the Mojave Desert which is also accessible from the starting point and a grassland area in the northwest which has various missions. I'm planning to go heavy on forests in the north to accommodate my next project. More info coming in the days to come.

Sat, 09 Nov 2016 15:53:29 +0000We played a Japanese VAO today>Ok, we had a group of Makers and I played. When I started the game we had zero players. The player turned out to be incapable of the game and went AFK. After a while about 8-10 people played and we found 5 players-on-1 boss. However, after playing we never saw one of our player-on-boss again. Tell me what is wrong with the game!
