code base and wrote the test case for the WCF service. If you look at the code, the customer actually enters 'p1' and 'p2' into the textboxes and clicks the button. It does not however enter the same line of code into both the textboxes at the same time, which it is supposed to do. Here is the method call for the two. " A: You should use function FillValues(), which fills StringCollection[], ListCollectionView and so on with values from those Properties. Then you can iterate this collection (if you don't need to modify it outside) or check each element's Value to see if it is null: var values = new List(); if( value3!=null) values.Add(value3.ToString()); if(value2!=null) values.Add(value2.ToString()); if( value1!=null) values.Add(value1.ToString()); foreach(var c in values) if(c!=null) Console.WriteLine(c); BTW: should you set [DefaultValue(" ")] attribute to your properties? Protected: Alkylation (Aminomethylation) Alkylating agents are compounds which are used to alkylate a molecule. The resulting product is either a covalent bond between the two molecules or an addition product between the molecule and an alkyl group. This alkyl group is bonded to a carbon atom in the molecule, and is located on the right hand side of the molecule. Often alkyl groups have a high therapeutic index, while the molecule containing them is highly toxic. Alkylating agents have been a common tool used in chemotherapy and has recently become a key target of drug design. Aminomethylation

The name "aminoalkylation" is used when the amino group of a drug molecule is alkylated. A related name is "formylation" when the methoxy group (OCH₃) is converted to a formyl (CHO) group.
